

"The greatest will you can build is the ability to do what you know you need to do, despite how you feel in the moment."